

SEE YOU AT THE SEASIDE

Today's Seriously Fun Adventure...

Remember the feeling last week when we were on the beach, with the sun on our faces and sand between our toes... Today we are going back to the seaside with our friend Skilful Sally for a sandcastle competition!

There are designated digging points on the beach which are the best places to dig for sand. We need to collect sand from these places, using our bucket and spade, so that we can make the biggest, best sandcastle. Can you then help Sally to move the sand to the right place?

The Grumpy Grizzly bear is also taking part in the competition to build the best sandcastle, but he is being very mean and knocking down other peoples' sandcastles. We will use the balls to knock down the Grumpy Grizzly's sandcastle, while he is trying to build it!

All of the sandcastles will be judged and we can help with the judging. We will need to move around them carefully so we don't knock any over.

Who will be the sandcastle champion?
